Brief Summary:	The Department of Textile Science and Apparel Design had organized two days workshop for T.Y. Textile Science and Apparel Design students on "Designer Evening Wear Using Corset" under the subject Fashion Apparel Design on 28th & 29th February 2024 through online mode (Google Meet) The resource person for the workshop was Dr. Hemlata Raval, Assistant Professor, Clothing and Textiles Department Faculty of Family and Community Sciences The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara, Gujarat. Mrs. Trupti Dhoka welcomed and introduced the resource person and Ms. Pradnya Abhyankar, In-charge of Textile Science and Apparel Design. Ms. Pradnya Abhyankar briefed about the college and progression of the department. She mentioned the importance of organizing skill based workshops which are conducted by the department every year. Dr. Hemlata Raval, started with her discourse by explaining the basic concept of corset. In the two days workshop, on the first day the resource person directed students to concept of contouring and constructed the block of corset on brown paper. She also demonstrated various types of fabrics on the dress form and its appearance on the basic corset design. On the second day the stitching of the corset was done as per directives given by the resource person. She also showed various problems that could occur while stitching if not drafted in the right way as the whole concept of corset depends on the fitting of the outer garment. The workshop was concluded by formal vote of thanks. It was an informative session for the students that would help them in future endeavors.
